Hi Ms Duchene,

Thank you for this information, but unfortunately damp would take a matter of weeks to show it self in a property and not years as would be the case here, unless you can prove that there was an incident near to the date of the damp showing it self in the property then there is no cover under the policy.

All future correspondence should be addressed to the loss adjuster to deal with and not copied in to me. But unless you are able to prove that there was a later incident then we are unable to assist.

Kind Regards
Laura Phillips
