Chancellor Commander's Chat

Dear Brothers,

This writing is my Chancellor's Chat on the 24th Day of January, with 341 days to follow. With February around the corner, which by the way, is my favorite winter month because it is the shortest, I am thinking back and remember many years ago, when we were all a lot younger, of course, a very fun mystery bus ride that I had planned. We passed out wool caps with tassels for the ladies and plain ones for the men to help keep them warm. It took place on a cold February winter evening, to a Toboggan Run in the Cleveland Metro parks Park in the Strongsville area.

I remember one very quick trip down the toboggan run, and even though we were a lot younger, one trip down the slide was more than enough. It was hard enough at the end of the run just to get up out of the sled, but it was fun. Just thinking of another long trip UP the many steps to get to the top of the run was more than we could imagine.

The remainder of the evening most of us spent cuddled close to the fireplace in the Chalet with plenty of hot cocoa and good conversation and laughs.

So, now what do you think? Do we have any takers this year? Just how will we get up out of the Sled with our new hips and knees? Anyway, enjoy what's left of winter and by all means keep warm!

Fraternally,

Your Chancellor Commander
Eli Mahler

Biographies

Stan Wolski, GT

I am still looking for biographies to publish in the Owatonna. Please submit your story to me in an email to jb4email-2@yahoo.com.

This new feature was suggested in an officer's meeting as a way of getting to know one another better. It does make for interesting reading.

We all have a story to tell so please share yours.

Etymology and Idioms

'Acid Test'

Gold prospectors and dealers need to be able to distinguish gold from base metal. The original acid test was developed in the late 18th century and relied on nitric acid's ability to dissolve other metals more readily than gold. To confirm that a find was gold it was given 'the acid test'. A test sample was used to mark a touchstone and the degree to which it dissolved when the acid was added determined whether it was gold. Various other later tests also used acid and these are all called 'acid tests'.

Acid Test Continued

The earliest citation I have found of a figurative use of the phrase (that is, one where no actual test is performed) is from the Wisconsin paper The Columbia Reporter, November 1845:

"Twenty-four years of service demonstrates his ability to stand the acid test, as Gibson's Soap Polish has done for over thirty years."

Quotable Quotes

In three words I can sum up everything I've learned in life: It goes on. Robert Frost

You miss 100 percent of the shots you never take. Wayne Gretsky

Do not go where the path may lead; go instead where there is no path and leave a trail. Ralph Waldo Emerson

We are what we repeatedly do; excellence, then, is not an act but a habit. Aristotle

Better to have loved and lost, than to have never loved at all. St. Augustine

Start thinking about who might make a good brother. Have you zeroed in on someone who might be a potential member yet. It's time to do so.

One new brother has the potential to bring others into our beloved lodge. Think of the possibilities of new members and energy in Owatonna Lodge.

We have one of the best lodges in the Grand Domain of Ohio. Let's keep this great organization alive and prospering.

Groaner Puns

The public safety officer came up to a large mob of people outside a department store and asked, "What's happening?"

A mall officer replied, "These people are waiting to get the new Barbie doll."

The public safety officer shook his head and muttered, "Who can resist a Barbie queue?"

Did you hear about the mathematician who was afraid of negative numbers? He'd stop at nothing to avoid them.

Someone sent ten different puns to friends, with the hope that at least one of the puns would make them laugh. No pun in ten did

So what if I can't spell Armageddon? It's not the end of the world

I just found out I'm colorblind. The diagnosis came completely out of the purple.
