Forward

This AU was originally inspired many many moons ago by the, at the time, rather chaotic and disunified nature of the pokegirls genre. Since that time it has reorganized itself into a very deep world with a near complete background, and a solid framework to write in. However, once I start a project, if I don't see it through to the end, it haunts my dreams, my every waking hour, until I go back and finish it. And so, here we are, this is my pet project, an Alternate Universe, with a complete background, fully fleshed out, and awaiting writers to play in it. It will be quite some time till this project has been seen fully through, but then, good things always come to those who patiently wait.
