All about VE 2005

Written by Leitia Guillemette

Why did I write about Voyage Europe 2005? First, to explain my absences at the english newspaper meetings, and second because I had no idea on what I wanted to write. So I'm going to tell you about the Voyage Europe, if you don't already know what it is, and my personal opinion about it.

The Voyage Europe is an activity organized by Mitchell-Montcalm teachers : Paul Gagné, Marie-Claire Litalien, Patrick Tremblay, Marc Dugas, Ghyslaine Mercier, Jean Gervais, Hélène Jacob, and the Mitchell secretary Maryse Cormier. And there's fourteen times more students... The project was proposed to Mitchell students last year, and we were a great deal more than 113 that wanted to participate. But as time passed, the number lessened to 113, which is not equally distributed between Mitchell and Montcalm (we're a little more from Montcalm). It's the first time that Voyage Europe accepts so many students, and it's a lot more complicated to make all the arrangements when you have to worry about all these persons. I just can congratulate Paul Gagné, who is, for what I know, the one who makes all the phone calls...

For me, Voyage Europe 2005 means more than a little end-of-the-year school trip. I have to work hard to go there, and France will be the ultimate award of my efforts. But it's not the only one : to go there, I have to give my best, always. For example, I, like the other students involved, can't have a detention, because we are closely watched. As we represent Mitchell-Montcalm students, we have to give the best image we can to our French "Cousins". So all the small victory I'll have until the departure will be small awards... but it's gratifying to know that I can do that much!

Christmas Presents

By Aida Valevicius

When Christmas approaches, it's always hard to find gifts for everybody. Here are a few suggestions for the people around you. For your parents you can buy some perfume. That's something easy to find and there is an incredible choice in all price ranges. For your friends, buy them something they like, maybe a book or a movie. You can ask them what they want, that could help you. For a girl you can buy jewelry or nice smelling bath lotions. For a guy, you can buy a video game or something to play sports or music. If you really don't have any ideas you can always buy a gift certificate, so that will give you time to wrap all your gifts.
