Natural Definition of Time

Time is Naturally DEFINED as:

The steady progression of The Creation.

This means, that Time is the same everywhere, and it means, that we are connected wherever we are and whatever we do.

{definition}

You may want to consider, that a clock going slow, or a clock going fast, DOES NOT ALTER Time.

When a clock runs slow, or when it runs fast, does not change
The Creation's steady progression called Time, you might be willing to understand and agree. *(a)

People want to mechanically MEASURE the progression, called Time.

By measuring the Time mechanically, they can calculate and predict when the tide of the ocean rises, and when the sun goes down.

And by mechanical means — they can measure the speed of light, too.

That's not Time, but it is MEASURING Time.

So when someone shouts at you, that "the clock runs faster" and, that "that proves Time is relative," then you are dealing with a REVERSAL of Truth

— Sociopaths have ALL IN REVERSE (they want themselves and everyone else, to "see" and "understand" all in reverse),

and if you encounter a reversal of Truth, then you may find, it is brought about by Sociopaths.

There is nothing "relative" about Time, at all:
Time is the most constant thing you can imagine.

There is Time — and then there is physical measurement of Time — and then there are Sociopaths

— Einstein, Hawking, Hubble, Darwin, etc — *(a) who DELIBERATELY, INTENTIONALLY, do very severely mess up the subject of Time — they in fact reverse it — by demanding, that

"its measurement" (by clocks or by photons) "is Time."

Sociopaths (Criminal Minds) Hate Truth...

Truth is 'that what happened,' which of course includes Time, the Time that it happened.

That is the very reason, that Sociopaths are highly motivated, to mess up, what Time is (and what Awareness, Perception and Memory is).

They mess it up IN ORDER BETTER TO HIDE, WHAT ACTUALLY HAPPENED — in order to hide their own nature and the nature of their colleagues.

It is a good method to detect some of the Sociopaths in science,
by the way:

They mess up what Time is. *(a)

Time is Defined as 'The Steady Progression of The Creation.'

And you can measure that, if you like, or if you have to, in various degrees of precision and error (nowadays by resonating a crystal, or by measuring the frequency change in photon-emissions by certain atoms) — BUT THE MEASUREMENT OF IT, DOES NOT DETERMINE Time.

Time is 'The Steady Progression of The Creation.'

(Experiencing change as "time")

Quite apart from THE Time — the Steady Progress of The Creation — quote apart from that, you can recall or re-experience things that happened, in endlessly different ways which you also call or experience as time (even though and while Time goes on as a steady progression, anyway):

"Time goes very slow — I have to wait endlessly."

"The hours flew by — I did not notice, that we talked already for so long."

"Nothing moved or changed — time stood still."

"I slept and was wholly unaware of how much Time had passed."

"He remained mummified for twenty thousand years, after ALL his Life Energy for Awareness and Perception, had been sucked out of him and from his body, by means of the mummification processes.

"When his grave was opened, some Life Energy came again available to his senses. And then it was for him, as if nothing at all had happened during those twenty thousand years (the time during which his soul in fact had 'remained murdered').

"Yet he could tell from the Time — by now again sensing the Time — that it had been that long."

(Determining by yourself the speed with which you look at changes)

And then there is the Perception of (your Connection to) your memory (of what happened in the past) — you jump around near and far, and you can focus on something you want to look at (or something that you feel compelled to look at).

You might be able to look at a particular scene (at a piece of memory) and then increase the intensity of your Perception of the motion and slowing down the memory's rate of change, so you can study and look at a memory in greater detail — much like you can slow down or even stop a movie, to examine some scene.

You experience that, as — and you probably call that — a 'change in time.' But THE Time runs on, anyway — the steady Progress of The Creation.

Instead of slowing it down, it is also possible to SPEED UP your Perception of some memory — to an incredible speed even, as some people report 'happens to them' in a Near-Death situation:

"Their whole life flashed by before their eyes, in a few seconds."

What happened in terms of Fine Particle Physics, is, that by the extreme urgency of the moment, they felt compelled to, or they felt they are "allowed" now, to create — or they otherwise obtained or drew in — the Life Energy necessary to connect to and be aware of what happened in their whole present life time, 'simultaneously.'

(Perceiving some past THAT vividly, that it seems like 'Traveling Back In Time')

It is possible, to Perceive memories so vividly, that it SEEMS "you traveled back in time."

But while you do that, Time (present time) goes on ANYWAY.

And so you can and do again 'place' that experience (when you very vividly "traveled back in time," when you deeply "regressed" into your memory) in relation to Time.

We look further, at what you might experience as "Time Travel:"

It is ALSO possible, to Perceive the Life Energy lingering at a location FROM THE PAST

— let's say at an old battle field, or on the other hand, in a town where you had lived a very happy and productive life — and your being there, in THAT Life Energy OF THE PAST, may give you a 'deja-vu' feeling, that can be so strong, that you Perceive mostly the past, "as if you traveled in time."

The Life Energy of what happened in the past at that location, IS THERE ANYWAY, and some people (and children are also people) might Perceive some portion of the lingering Energy of some part of the past, there.

In much the same way, the Life Energy of his own past is ALSO carried around by any person, and there is the possibility, that at some time or other, you or anyone else, might Perceive some past of him quite intensely, even to the point of overriding some or much of what is his condition now.

The point is of course, not to CONFUSE these things, but to understand how these things work.

(summary)

We looked at four things:

1. The Time (defined as The Steady Progression Of The Creation *(1))
2. The physical measurement of Time
3. Observing memories or looking at changes, in 'slow motion' or also in 'very fast motion.'
4. Observing some Life Energy that is of the past, but experiencing it THAT vividly, that one seems to be "transported into another time" or has "time-traveled into the past."

So there is Natural Time, there is physical measurement of Time (as clocks do), and there is a subjective feeling of things changing or not changing, and there is the way one looks at memories, speeding their motion up or down as one pleases to see it.

We take the future as a different subject, which we will describe in an HRI about 'Prophecy — Awareness of the actual or of the intended future.'

- (1) I use the term 'The Creation' deliberately, rather than a term, a word, that has been so severely perverted and mutilated by The Sociopaths, to the intense destruction of science and for deadening Mankind and for the sickening separation of individuals from each other:

The Sociopaths have succeeded in spreading a DESTRUCTIVE "definition" of the term 'Universe,' to be void of the very matter it consists of: Life Energy Particles.

So I am very reluctant to use the term 'The Universe:' The Sociopaths have made it into a perversity, a dirty or highly contaminated word.

- (2) I addressed the subject of Time already in some other HRI's, for instance in

(Textnotes)

(a) Even though that shows you to be far more intelligent and truthful and integer, on the subject of Time,

(you are thus more integer and truthful and intelligent) than the person whose name is currently, on a social and even on academic level, the very embodiment of "being the most intelligent," but who took great pride in deceiving people and in so, obviously, pleasing all Sociopaths:

After all, he got a Nobel Prize in Physics, and the scientists don't (Academia does not) test people for being Sociopaths

(supposing they could define Sociopath, which they can't either — sorry Mr Cleckley, Mr Hare and Ms Stout — your dabbling in very shallow waters, does not actually Define 'Sociopaths') those they propose for a Nobel Prize.

The famously "most intelligent person in science" got a Nobel Prize, fairly enough as those things go — BY applying Isaac Newton's laws to photons, photons being physical particles with the impact energy of a fast moving particle — moving at the velocity of photons, of course, or of light, as they abbreviate it in physics, as "c."

With the mass of the photon particle called "m," you then get the impact Energy of a photon, by applying the relation Newton discovered:

The Impact energy is "m" times "c" squared, also written as "m.c²" or as "mc²" or even as mc².

Interestingly, this "famous" equation does not take into account, that there are high energy photons (above ultraviolet) and low energy photons (below infrared), for instance.

The Sociopaths of physics nevertheless claim — and they are debilitating students, by demanding — that "photons have NO MASS," and that "there are waves, that have NO PARTICLES to do the waving."

Many of these Sociopaths are also eagerly infected by Darwin, and want others to BELIEVE, that "the brain does their thinking." (This REALLY makes people very, very stupid and sick — but The Sociopaths call it "being intelligent," and "being rational," even.)

Having now gotten a Nobel Prize, this "very intelligent" person found DELIGHT in deceiving the most arrogant of the science community, and he delighted in ruining theoretical physics, AND physics students, for the century ahead of him.

And he proceeded to do so, with enormous success and a large following in Academia, and he even had a successor, a Sociopath from the Royal Academy of Sciences, who got himself celebrated by writing A Brief History Of Time, and his celebrants even made a blockbuster-movie about him, successor in theoretical physics, searching for 'A Theory Of Everything' with which TO REPLACE The Creation,

TO REPLACE Time itself — the steady Progression of The Creation — to REPLACE it with a mechanical, physical MEASUREMENT of Time:

A measurement by which he thus could claim Time to be "variable" in space, and Time to be "relative" by tying Time to photons — claiming photons to determine Time:

The clock "determines Time" — instead of:

Time is NOT determined by how much a clock is running faster or slower, because Time is the natural, steady Progression of The Creation.

He "made time ITSELF be a mechanical thing," as it pleased him — Albert Einstein and all other Sociopaths — "to be senior to The Creation," looking for "the formula of The Creation" or for "The God Particle."

When you claim Time to be "relative,"

Truth itself then "becomes slippery, or even wholly vanishes" — just as the Sociopaths want Truth to vanish.

This might give some food for thought to be absorbed by those who would or will be experts on Defining The Sociopath — in general and in science in particular.

- (b) The Natural Definition of Time, makes obvious, various fallacies introduced by The Sociopaths, "about time." *(a)

Correcting these fallacies:

There are for instance, no "beings existing outside of Time."

There is no actual "Time Travel" — neither into the past (see 'Natural Definition of Truth'), nor is there "Time Travel From The Future or Into The Future."

(see also, the upcoming HRI 'Prophecy — Awareness of the actual or intended future')

Nor is Time in anyway "relative" (also not "relative to any space," nor "to any speed of travel"), *(a) but Time is the SAME in any place in The Creation.

Nor is there any "Universe, that exists three seconds in the future."

Nor are there so-called "Parallel Universes" as The Sociopaths define these.

Etc. etc.

But there ARE people who do very deliberately want to confuse you and anyone. *(2)
