Tony Migliore's education and experience in the music business are extensive and varied. Beginning his musical studies as a child, he was soon enrolled at the Julliard School of Music studying piano, theory and composition. He continued his studies at the Eastman School of Music in Rochester, New York, receiving a Bachelor Of Music Degree.

Though concentrating on classical performance throughout the years, his love for all forms of musical expression continued, as was evident in his work with such organizations as the Tommy Dorsey and Sammy Kaye big bands, as well as numerous other jazz bands of the day. Graduate studies in performance and arranging continued at both North Texas State University and Columbia University. While in New York, Mr. Migliore also served for three years as a pianist and arranger for the United States Military Academy Band at West Point.

During this period, he also worked as a pianist for several Broadway and Off-Broadway productions, including the original cast performances of "Promises, Promises," and "O Calcutta." Shortly after completing his military service commitment, he moved to Nashville, Tennessee where his musical experiences began to vary yet in even greater directions.

As a musician and arranger, producer and conductor in Nashville, Mr. Migliore has appeared on hundreds of hit record albums, earning him several awards for his incredible musical talents.

In 1991, he was awarded the very prestigious International Support Award by the Canadian Country Music Association for his production work with many Canadian artists, including the now very famous, Shania Twain.

He has served as conductor/arranger for Chet Atkins, Mickey Gilley, and Don McLean and conducted many major orchestras including the London Philharmonic Orchestra, The National Symphony, Rochester Philharmonic, Honolulu Symphony, Atlanta Symphony, and show orchestras at the MGM Grand, Aladdin, Harrah's and Sand's in Las Vegas, Reno, Lake Tahoe and Atlantic City, as well as serving as conductor/arranger of the The Tonight Show Band in Hollywood, California.

Mr. Migliore's other award credits include television theme songs, award winning radio jingles, and a slew of hit record albums that he was privileged to work on as a musician and pianist.

His vast and varied musical experiences, coupled with his warm personality have helped him create a winning combination between Mr. Migliore and many of the top session musicians in Nashville.
