

Let the Extremist Replacement Theorists Live Their Dream - For A Week!

Too many Americans do not respect, understand, appreciate or value being blessed to live in a diverse democracy. All too many believe that they exclusively are entitled to the privileges that come from being an American and that these privileges are somehow guaranteed to them alone as citizens of our great country.

A growing extremist segment of the American population believe that they, based on who they are, their race, how much money they have, and their religion entitles them to exclusive right to the privileges associated with being an American.

These extremists have taken steps to exclude individuals they see as not entitled to enjoying these privileges. They advocate an un-tested and unproven conspiracy proposition, Replacement Theory, designed to create fear that minorities such as African Americans, Latinos Jews, Asians and other minorities will continue to increase in numbers until they replace them as the majority population in the United States and that would somehow damage these extremists and America.

They don't recognize that replacement is not new but has already happened. They refuse to acknowledge that this replacement has not been to the detriment of America, but a benefit. They refuse to recognize the truth that replacement has been good for America. Replacing poor performers with better performers has been a key for the advancement of America. The Japanese introduced "quality circles" to increase the quality of their automobiles and forced the American auto industry to pay attention to quality. This replacement of poor quality with good quality saved the auto industry in America.

The addition of minorities as participants in sports, entertainment, music, industry, politics and other opportunities did not damage American society. Based on the quality of performance of these minorities undeniable advancement for America and Americans has been achieved. The replacement of those who were not able to perform at a competitive level were replaced. That was a good thing for America.

What those who believe in their destructive and unproven "Replacement Theory" need is to have a taste of reality. Even more compelling, these extremists need to experience what life would be like if their false and discriminatory "Replacement Theory” of excluding immigrants, denying minorities the right to vote, engaging in the creation of barriers to equality were to become a reality.

This reality needs to be experienced. This can be achieved by those minorities targeted as the cause of the alleged evils that will come from their Replacement Theory by banding together and participating in demonstration of their value by withholding their contribution to America for one week. It could be called “Replacement Theory Reality Week”.

Minority athletes, entertainers, business leaders, service workers, migrant workers, business leaders and, yes, politicians, must take a “reality” vacation for one week. The athletes should not play, actors should not act, musicians should not play, singers should not sing, service workers should not go to work, business executives should take the week off and politicians should take a break from politics.

What would be the value, or consequence of a Replacement Theory Reality Week? It would end the speculation regarding the truth of the Replacement Theory conspiracy supported by millions of Americans.

It would demonstrate that replacement has been occurring ever since our nation was founded. The truth is that citizens capable of outperforming other citizens replaced them. Ideas that were capable of outperforming established ideas replaced them. When poorly performing citizens or ideas were allowed to survive at the expense of advancement, America suffered and payed a price. That is the truth that will come from a Replacement Theory Reality Week and the challenge we must face today. Replace the lies and conspiracies and replace the people who advocate them, regardless of who they are. Fight to make America a more perfect union.

America needs to see the reality, not the lies associated with the extremist conspiracy know as Replacement Theory to eliminate any ability for them to repeat the lie. The truth that would come from a Replacement Theory Reality Week would achieve this goal for all Americans capable of rational thought. While taking this week off go out and vote.
