

From: DDAvolunteers <DDAvolunteers@comcast.net>
To: <richard@iopen.net>
Cc: DDA <DDAvolunteers@comcast.net>
Date: Thursday, April 13, 2006 02:03 PM
Subject: Re: problems with interference from your programming via e-democracy.org

Recently, after E-democracy blocked e-mail/posting from my and other members, on their forum:

CGI's which forward mail, from online mailing forms, at web sites unrelated to e-democracy, which contain mail and are addressed to the e-mail of and other members of e-democracy are blocked and mail is not able to go through, although the forms are working correctly.

We have programmers evaluating the code you use at the moment,.

Hopefully this is an error in your software and not deliberate.

These claims are not unsubstantiated.

Please resolve this problem.

> From: Richard Waid <richard@iopen.net>
> Organization: IOPEN Technologies Ltd.
> Reply-To: richard@iopen.net
> Date: Thu, 13 Apr 2006 08:55:26 +1200
> To: MJ Duchene <ddavolunteers@comcast.net>, Tim Erickson
> <tim@politalk.com>,
> Dan Randow <dan@onlinegroups.net>
> Subject: Re: problems with interference from your programming via > e-democracy.org
>
>> RE: problems with interference from your programming via >> e-democracy.org
>>
>> From using a web site powered through your server, which uses many cgis, >> there has been interference with several of my e-mail inclusive >> DDAvolunteers (at) comcast.net, and related e-mail addresses at >> comcast.net.
>>
>> Several online response forms have been corrupted via code you are using.

>>
>> I use the internet for my business and will have to make a criminal >> complaint regarding apparent hacking if this is not promptly resolved.
>
> MJ Duchene:
>
> You are making serious claims against our character with these allegations, > for which you provide no evidence at all.
>
> forums.e-democracy.org provides the public issue forums to which you have > (apparently) posted. If you are claiming that a participant in > forums.e-democracy.org has been harassing you in some way, we take that matter
> -very- seriously, as do the organisers of e-democracy.org.
>
> Could you please provide substantive detail as to what 'interference' has been > occurring? From a look through our email logs, we have sent very little email > to you at all, except through transactions you have initiated.
>
> Again, we take all claims of abuse of our services VERY seriously, so if you > have > substantive evidence, we would certainly be interested in investigating.
>
>
> Best regards,
>
> Richard Waid
> Network/Software Engineer
> <http://iopen.net>
>