Obituary

A Christian assurance of life eternal, as promised by God, was most assuredly granted to Lyntine Culver Lenoir on the evening of February 14, 2004, while at the Baptist Hospital in Jackson, MS.

Endeared by a host of relatives and friends, Lyntine (fondly known as Lynn) was one of four children born to the late Grover C. Culver and Kathleen T. Culver.

Born on May 7, 1919, Lynn was united with the Kynett United Methodist Church of Brookhaven, MS, at an early age; later in life, Lynn united with Saint Francis Assisi Church of Brookhaven, MS, where she remained a devoted and active member.

On August 23, 1942, Lynn was united in holy matrimony to Lamar Lenoir and enjoyed a marriage which spanned well over 50 years.

A graduate of Alexander High School (Brookhaven, MS), she completed her higher education at Alcorn University (Lorman, MS) where she received a degree in Home Economics. Lynn received a Masters Degree in Special Education at Tuskegee Institute (Tuskegee, AL). She enjoyed an illustrious and rewarding career in teaching—especially enjoyed was teaching special education. Her teaching career spans decades that encompassed positions in Illinois (Chicago) and Mississippi (Columbia, Hattiesburg, Clarksdale, Brookhaven, and Port Gibson). She remained a teacher until retirement.

Surely to miss her profoundly are her son, Andre L. Lenoir (Emogene), two grandchildren, Andre F. Lenoir and Sasha L. Lenoir, and three great-grandchildren, Breyunna Lenoir, Drelyn Lenoir and Dreyuntae Lenoir of Brookhaven, MS; a close sister-in-law, Marjorie Culver of Prentiss, MS; two nephews, Kevin Culver (Debora) and Kenneth Culver (Velma) of Jackson, MS; five close nieces, Keishela Culver, Kindrela Culver, Tiffany Stamps, Katrina Walker (Jonathan), Latoya William (Jeronn); two very-close cousins who were always by her side, Mamie Banks and Blance Cason; and a host of other relatives and friends.

Awaiting at Heaven's gate were her husband, Lamar Lenoir; her mother, Kathleen T. Culver; Father, Grover Culver, a sister, Claudine Aultmann; Brother In Law, Rudolph Aultmann, two brothers, John A. Culver and Sterling E. Culver; and a loving niece, Kathryn Lynn Stamps.

*One can only smile and sing praises
when envisioning such a grand reunion.*
