

Art Hanaman October 18, 1943-August 29, 2009

Published on Hansen-Gravitt Funeral Home site.

Arthur G. Hanaman, 65, of South Beloit, Illinois, died, Saturday, August 29, 2009 in Browntown, Wisconsin, from injuries he sustained in an automobile accident.

Arthur was born October 18, 1943 in Beloit, Wisconsin, the son of Luther and Edna (Lass) Hanaman. He graduated from South Beloit High School and attended Northern Illinois University. Arthur proudly served in the United States Air Force from 1964 to 1966. He had been married to the former Ilene Morse. Arthur was employed as an accountant at ECOLAB for over twenty years.

He will be remembered as one of the most outgoing, fun to be around sixty-five year olds around, who enjoyed bowling with the ECOLAB team at Viking Lanes in South Beloit, playing in a dartball at Faith Lutheran Church in South Beloit where he attended church, golfing, gardening, and attending functions and get-togethers with his family and friends.

Arthur is survived by his son, Jason Hanaman of South Beloit, sister and brother-in-law, Donna and Leonard Porter of Roscoe, IL, brother and sister-in-law, Duane and Donna Hanaman of Coloma, WI, brother-in-law, Ronald Phetteplace of South Beloit, IL, and special friend Joan Hayes of Edgerton, WI. He was preceded in death by his sister, Lurlene Phetteplace, and brother, Ronald Hanaman.

Friends are invited to greet the family at a visitation from 4:00 p.m. to 7:00 p.m. on Wednesday, September 2, 2009 at Hansen-Gravitt Funeral Home, 424 Prospect Street in Beloit. Funeral services are 11:00 a.m. on Thursday, September 3, 2009 in Faith Lutheran Church, 1305 Blackhawk Boulevard, South Beloit, Illinois with the Reverend Jay Quinn officiating, followed by a committal service at Eastlawn Cemetery in Beloit, with military honors provided by the West-Field, Post 48 American Legion.
