

Your Eyes (Track 06 on "Okinawa")

I dreamed last night I was taken by surprise
By a pair of eyes they were yours
Pale blue light in a never ending white
Those eyes aren't just eyes they're more

I was flying through the clouds on a breeze
Gliding past the mountains soaring over trees
My heart was lifted up as if it could see
Your eyes in the distance casting spells on me

Then I saw your eyes
And to my surprise
Reflected in them there was me

Long ago and very far away
I noticed you in a very special way
I've seen your image a thousand times before
Echoing through my mind and unlocking doors

The feelings that I had for you now are new
They dimmed in the darkness but now like morning dew
They come to grow again 'cause I've got eyes for you
Even through the mist for me your eyes shone through

And you see my eyes
And to your surprise
Reflected in them there is you
Reflected in them there is you
Reflected in them there is you
Reflected in them there is you
Shining in them there is you
Shining in them there is you

Written, produced, and recorded by John Spreier. Acoustic guitars and vocals by John Spreier.

© Copyright 1976-2005 Barnyard Sounds. All rights reserved.