TOGETHER WITH all the improvements now or hereafter erected on the property, and all easements, appurtenances, and fixtures now or hereafter a part of the property. All replacements and additions shall also be covered by this Security Instrument. All of the foregoing is referred to in this Security Instrument as the "Property".

The Mortgagor and Lender further covenant and agree as follows:

1. MORTGAGOR'S OWNERSHIP. Mortgagor is lawfully seized of the estate hereby conveyed and has the right to mortgage, grant and convey the Property and that the Property is unencumbered, except for encumbrances of record. Mortgagor warrants and will defend generally the title to the Property against all claims and demands, subject to any encumbrances of record.

2. PAYMENT OF PRINCIPAL AND INTEREST; PREPAYMENT AND LATE CHARGES. Borrower shall promptly pay when due the principal of and interest on the debt evidenced by the Note and any prepayment and late charges due under the Note. The failure of Borrower to do so shall be a default under this Mortgage.

3. FUNDS FOR TAXES AND INSURANCE. Subject to applicable law or to a written waiver by Lender, Mortgagor shall pay to Lender on the day payments are due under the Note, until the Note is paid in full, a sum ("Funds") for: (a) yearly taxes and assessments which may attain priority over this Security Instrument as a lien on the Property; (b) yearly leasehold payments or ground rents on the Property, if any; (c) yearly hazard or property insurance premiums; (d) yearly flood insurance premiums, if any; (e) yearly mortgage insurance premiums, if any; and (f) any sums payable by Mortgagor to Lender, in accordance with the provisions of paragraph 9, in lieu of the payment of mortgage insurance premiums. These items are called "Escrow Items". Lender may, at any time, collect and hold Funds in an amount not to exceed the maximum amount a Lender for a federally related mortgage loan may require for Mortgagor's escrow account under the federal Real Estate Settlement Procedures Act of 1974 as amended, from time to time, 12 U.S.C. Section 2601 et seq. (RESPA), unless another law that applies to the Funds sets a lesser amount. If so, Lender may, at any time, collect and hold Funds in an amount not to exceed the lesser amount. Lender may estimate the amount of Funds due on the basis of current data and reasonable estimates of expenditures of Future Escrow Items or otherwise in accordance with applicable law.

The Funds shall be held in an institution whose deposits are insured by a federal agency, instrumentality, or entity (including Lender, if Lender is such an institution) or in any Federal Home Loan Bank. Lender shall apply the Funds to pay the Escrow Items. Lender may not charge Mortgagor for holding and applying the Funds, annually analyzing the escrow account, or verifying the Escrow Items, unless Lender pays Mortgagor interest on the Funds and applicable law permits Lender to make such a charge. However, Lender may require Mortgagor to pay a one-time charge for an independent real estate tax reporting service used by Lender in connection with this loan unless applicable law provides otherwise. Unless an agreement is made or applicable law requires interest to be paid, Lender shall not be required to pay Mortgagor any interest or earnings on the Funds. Mortgagor and Lender may agree in writing, however, that interest shall be paid on the Funds. Lender shall give to Mortgagor, without charge, an annual accounting of the Funds, showing credits and debits to the Funds and the purpose for which each debit to the Funds was made. The Funds are pledged as additional security for all sums secured by this Security Instrument.

SUBJECTIVE/OBJECTIVE: Mr. Anderson was referred to the Mental Health Clinic for a post-traumatic stress disorder evaluation by Psychiatry Service on Building 2. The veteran served with the United States Marine Corps from 1949 until 1952. He was 18 years old when he went into the Marines. He did graduate from high school. He did not have any legal, psychiatric, or chemical dependency problems prior to the service. He enjoyed sports and socializing. He went to church on a regular basis. The veteran received his boot camp training at San Diego. The veteran had been out of the Marines for about 80 days when the Korean War started. He was called back into service. He went through some advanced infantry training at Camp Pendleton. The veteran served in the Korean War from December of 1950 until December of 1951. He was Able Company 1st Battery 7th Marine Regiment 1st Marine Division. He served in the front lines, and he was involved in a great deal of conflict. He received the Purple Heart, the Silver Star, and the Combat Ribbon with several Battle Stars. The veteran was in combat situations where he felt intense fear and horror. The veteran states that when he closes his eyes he can still get images from Korea. The veteran had been evaluated in 1991 and at that time he had symptoms related to post-traumatic stress disorder but did not report the full criteria. The veteran states that he has had more memories and dreams about Korea in the last year. He is not clear why this is happening. When he gets some memories about the war, he will feel deep sadness with some feelings of anger. The veteran gets bad dreams about the war. He will wake up feeling extremely sad. He has flashbacks which can be set off by smells. The smell of garlic is especially problematic for him. He thinks of burned flesh. He did see hundreds of enemy whom had been burned with napalm. He states that the smell is still quite intense for him. The veteran has anniversary reactions that occur in March of the year. This was the anniversary of one of the situations that will be described later. This is a situation where he was awarded the Silver Star. The veteran tries to avoid thinking about the war if he can. He has some psychogenic amnesia for names of people that he knew well in Korea. He had a marked personality change when he came back. The veteran states that he, himself, did not think so, but his family told him that he was quite different. The veteran started to drink to excess. He became more irritable. He got into fights. This had not been like him at all. He had to sit in the back of wherever he was and keep an eye on things. This was a marked change to the way he was prior to the war. The veteran reports that he has more difficulty expressing affection toward people since Korea. He has been working on this and states that he believes that this is less of a problem in his life now than it was earlier. The veteran has trouble with irritability. He has trouble with hypervigilance. He always sits by the wall. He checks around when he is outside. He always knows where the exits are in buildings he is in. The veteran reports having difficulties with feeling jumpy. The veteran reports some difficulties with depression. He is self-critical. He denies any suicidal ideation or intent or any history for suicide attempts. He denies manic or psychotic symptoms. He now has been sober since April 21st. He does not misuse any drugs. The veteran did describe a number of very traumatic events for him that he went through in Korea. It is clearly very painful for him to discuss this. The veteran gets tears in his eyes as he discusses these things. He is also quite reluctant to talk about them. This might account for his not meeting full criteria when he was interviewed in 1991. It is very apparent that this veteran has a hard time talking about these situations. One of the worst situations he was in was the one that occurred at the time when he won the Silver Star. The veteran was on top of a mountain and was alone. The squad leader had been hit in the head but was still alive. The veteran had to lower the squad leader down from the mountain. There was a great deal of combat going on. The veteran had to kill a number of enemy. At one point he dove into a foxhole where there was a dead North Korean soldier whom he had killed. The veteran states that this was a terrible mistake because he looked through this man's belongings and found a photograph of his wife and children. At the time the veteran was ~~in~~ emotionally. He states that he was running on adrenaline at the time. Now when he thinks about this, he feels a great deal of sadness for the loss of this man's life. He ~~now~~ thinks of this enemy soldier as a person. He states that for many years after he came back, he carried the photograph of the man's wife and children in his own wallet. He thinks that he ~~is~~ ~~is~~ this way now. The veteran states that he feels very angry. Also when he thinks about this, he thinks about how wasteful war is in terms of human life. The veteran states that there was another situation which comes back to him fairly frequently. He states that there was another man in his unit who liked to play practical jokes. He and the other man were going to be on guard duty one night. They were in an area where over 100 North Koreans had been hit by air strikes and napalm. There were bodies lying all over the place. The veteran states that the other man took the first shift and was about ten feet away from where the veteran was. He stated that the veteran should come and relieve him. The veteran states that when he went over to him, the man did not move. He tried to shake him. As he shook him, he discovered that he was burned beyond recognition. What his friend had done was taken a dead body of an enemy soldier and placed his jacket on him so that the veteran would think that his buddy had been burned. At the time the veteran saw this, he was horrified by this. He became very angry at his friend. His friend meant this as a joke. The veteran states that he can still smell the odor of the burned flesh. The veteran finds this to be a very painful memory for him.

ASSESSMENT: The veteran does appear to meet the DSM-IV criteria for post-traumatic stress disorder secondary to combat experiences in the Korean War. The veteran had extensive combat experiences. He has nightmares, flashbacks, and intrusive recollections about these events as well as an anniversary reaction. He had a major personality change upon his return. He startles easily and is hypervigilant.

PLAN: The veteran is welcome to attend the Korean War Veterans Group at this facility. I would recommend that he follow-up with this upon discharge.

To the above named,

Notice was served on the Governor at his "Mansion" June 19th, 1992, the attached Notice of Appeal/Appeal with 25 Documents including (2) Death Certificates.

The matter should have been referred to you or Attorneys for criminal Prosecution, apparently the public "TRUST" has been violated again constituting a deliberate pattern RICO by County Commissioners.
John Finley resolution 87-161, which was taken to the US Supreme Court, without a resolution of criminal charges, Default for Andersons.

Again Warren Schaber a licensed Insurance Agent 89-3781 taking another building under color of Authority, 2194 Marshall Pmt 05-284 beaten, jailed since 1977, almost 20 yrs, her mother Mayoral Candidate 1983 also jailed by Judge Salland, when his daughter Cathy was renting the Building.

fees, checks uncashed, but embezzlement of $10.00 wk. 43327 of my husbands

Lou McKenna is charged under the criminal statutes 609 with obstruction of legal process a felony as he failed to record, document our Lis Pendens on (4) parcels of property, he and other public officials including judges have wilfully violated the US real Estate Settlement Practices

Former city attorney Jane McPeak and her county attorney husband Harry McPeak have issued many warrants for my arrests pertaining to 2194 Marshall without recording the proper documents.

It is bizarre that Jane Ann (Calabria) of 1844 Portland Ave. St.

Two for the price of one. Buck Lake's Jim Anderson finally caught a nice northern from his home waters. It all began while walleye fishing with John Pecchia from Nashwauk. They were dragging leeches around the lake, with no luck at all, when John caught a nice sunfish. Jim, looking for a little action, switched to a nightcrawler and started catching sunnies. It wasn't long before he was bringing a sunfish to the surface when a northern came by and grabbed his fish. After five minutes of carefully playing his fish, he eased it toward the boat and John netted the pike, which weighed in at seven pounds!
