

The Season Begins: Protect the Quarterback

In a short week the 2010 football season begins. Managers, coaches and players will plan together to have a successful season. RWTB will be going through very similar situations. You have a General Manager or Athletic Director - "SOKE" James Rosenbach. He will organize, plan and choose players or students who will qualify to make and go for this years Black Belt Promotion Team. Not everyone makes it. It takes someone special who is willing to go the extra mile...train on their own, make every class, be respectful of his instructor and fellow students, the school and organization. He will support his Warrior Training Branch and devote his time, energy, effort and skill to the best of his ability to make his instructor, parents and friends proud of him, as he achieves a Black Belt or higher. Very few accomplish this goal and win this game.

Your instructor is your Quarterback. He leads your team and you must do everything you can to protect him. Listen to him, be on the same playing field and game plan. If the Quarterback goes down- -you go down. You must follow his game plan to succeed. He is your leader, your mentor, your coach and your teacher. Follow him, believe in him, trust in him and you will ALL win! We have one of the best teams in the nation. You have a quarterback with 38 years of experience. . .James Rosenbach

We are also fortunate to have other leaders and helpers that help make this RWTB team what it is. We have a great mentor in Doctor Lewis Verner. Jesse Kiefer is great at special teams like weapons. Jake Kiefer is the best defensive line coach. You have a Heisman Trophy candidate in Jake Nielsen. You have a veteran player with Al Bailey. Offensive coordinators in Dave Page and Tim Hannan. And of course every team has an equipment manager, ours is Randy Holke. And above all, you are the players. You must execute our offense and defense for us to be effective and win the most important game of life and death. It's more than a game. . .it's a way of life. Do it right, follow the game plan and you might secure a Black Belt. The season starts TODAY, go for it!
