

Code of Practice

Code of Practice for Orange Gecko Art Network Inc Members

Members of Orange Gecko are reminded of their obligation to:

- Relevant consumer legislation;
- Anti-discrimination legislation;
- Legal requirements relating to small business management eg. Workers compensation; business, public liability and manufacturers liability insurance provisions of the Copyright Act; and
- Current Occupational Health and Safety legislation.

Members of Orange Gecko are expected to:

- Deal honestly, respectfully and fairly with clients and other arts practitioners;
- Produce work of the highest possible standard, fit for the purpose for which it was intended; and
- Make use of written contracts and other standard business tool eg. Invoices, quotations, and purchase orders.
- Aim to have an Australian Business Number [ABN]. This is a requirement for most Regional Arts grant applications.

As an Accredited Member of Orange Gecko, I undertake:

- To endeavour through my practice and associated business principles to uphold and advance the standing of my art form within the community; and
- To endeavour to promulgate my expertise and understanding of the art, craft or design industry and their contribution to contemporary society.

Signature

Date:

Name:

Address:

Privacy and Confidentiality Policy Statement:

ORANGE GECKO art network is committed to ensuring the collection, use and storage of members' personal information is undertaken in such a way so as to protect members' privacy and confidentiality. ORANGE GECKO art network is bound by a number of privacy laws. These include but are not limited to the Privacy Act 1988, the Tasmanian Personal Information Protection Act 2004 and other laws, which protect member's privacy rights.

ORANGE GECKO