Dear Madam:

Re: Notice of Determination

Our file #: TB 1211-4112-2037

We are writing about your eligibility for the disability tax credit (DTC).

We have completed our review and determined that you are eligible for the DTC for 2002 and future years. You may be entitled to claim the disability amount on your income tax and benefit returns for these years.

Please do not send us another Form T2201, "Disability Tax Credit Certificate," unless we ask for one.

In the meantime, you must tell us if your medical condition improves.

Only requests for tax years ending in any of the 10 calendar years before the year you make the request can be considered. For example, a request made in 2012 will be accepted only for 2002 and later tax years.

If anyone claims a deduction for medical expenses for full-time care in a nursing home, or for attendant care of more than $10,000 for a person with a disability, no one may claim the disability amount for that person. A claim can be made for either these medical expenses or the disability amount, whichever is more beneficial.
