

8X Strength

Intellect 7B

1 Edge * Hand Size 3(17)

9C Agility

Willpower 6X

CROSSFIRE

William Cross

SKILLS

Martial Arts, Marksmanship; Detective/Espionage, Computers, Ultrasonics

POWERS

Enhanced Senses

“Bionic Left Eye” Nightvision 8

“Audio Sensor” Hyper-Hearing 12, Resistance to sonic attacks +7, Resistance to sound-based mind control +11

EQUIPMENT

Special Uniform

Body Armor +2 from physical attacks, +3 from heat and cold attacks.

Pouches in his costume conceal a variety of items like gas masks, surveillance bugs, and single shot weapons.

Mind Control Equipment 16

His sonic inventions enable him to fill his subjects with intense hatred and violence.

Victims will attack everyone within range until the machine is shut off or the victim is removed from its effect. The range of the equipment is far missile distance.

CALLING: World Domination

PERSONALITY: Crossfire is a mercenary villain who opposes superheroes because of their potential interference with his plans. His overall plans are to regain his equipment and resources; destroy earth's superheroes; and conquer the world for profit. He is an able long-range planner but he often stumbles over immediate difficulties.

HISTORY

William Cross joined the CIA with the intention of learning the secrets of the trade and to make contacts that might prove useful. Specializing in information gathering and extraction, he developed an extremely effective means of brainwashing people with ultrasonics. Quitting the CIA, Cross used his skills for several highly profitable criminal operations. At one point in his career, one of his enemies booby-trapped his HQ. The explosion robbed him of his left eye and ear. He used his wealth to finance a cybernetic eye and ear.

Crossfire eventually decided that the existence of superhumans posed a threat to future operations. His desire to eliminate future opposition led him into several botched missions that put him in confrontation with heroes like the Thing, Moon Knight, Hawkeye and Captain America.

He eventually ended up in prison.