

What She Means to Me.

I met a girl
a long time ago.
Why she caught my eye
I may never know.

But it happened
and I'm glad because now she's
the best friend I've ever had.

From the first time that I saw her until today,
I can honestly say I love her
for each and every day.

She will probably never realize
what she means to me,
but I will always love her,
and I hope that she will see;

that love is just a feeling that burns deep down inside.
It makes you feel the way you do when to your lover you've lied.

It makes you do the things you do, pulling things out of the air.
It makes you notice the color of her eyes,
it lets you smell her hair.

And these are things she does to me,
and I hope that it will be,
because my love can last forever;
if I can make her see -- what she means to me.
